Retrospect

A New Beginning.

Editor Evaluates Yearbook

During the course of this year, I have had the privilege of being the editor of Ottawa's second yearbook. We have had many trying times working to meet our deadline. Somehow we have managed to get it done. From the day we started until we finished, there was hardly ever a dull moment. We had many confrontations over things such as print and color, but they always were ended with little bloodshed.

Mrs. Jobe always kept us in line (well, most of the time anyway.) Even through the picture shortage, we always kept busy doing something.

This is Ottawa's yearbook, Retrospect 1974.

Ottawa Completes Second Yearbook

On March 11, 1974, in Saginaw, Michigan, the Retrospect staff completed Ottawa Middle's second yearbook.

The Retrospect staff included: Mrs. Jobe, advisor; Jim Mantel, editor; Jim Mueller, assistant editor; Eric Payk, Tom Beaudin, Kathy Calkins, Meg Dwyer, Debbie Hatfield, Gina Kieft, and Eileen Lynch.

The Ottawa Middle School year book consists of seven sections:

1. Fifth grade
2. Academics
3. Sixth grade
4. Electives
5. Seventh grade
6. Sports
7. Eighth grade

Staff Thanks Contributors

As you read through this year's yearbook, you will see many pages involving art work. The Retrospect staff would like to extend their thanks to the artists who helped us out. Our cover was made by Art Hickey. The seventh grade divider page, the academics' divider page, and the sports divider page were all done by Jim Mueller. The sixth grade divider page was done by Gina Kieft, eighth grade divider page by Nancy Schueler, fifth grade divider page by Gail Foreman, and the electives divider page was done by Lori Burt.

We also would like to thank Mrs. Thompson for instructing these students in their work. And to Mr. Reer, thank you for taking the pictures and contributing them to the staff.

THANK YOU ONE AND ALL FOR HELPING.
